A Word From Your AIA

AIA San Joaquin is proud to present to our Emerging Professionals, the opportunity to take your career to the next level and become an architect. The goal is to create a steady environment for 10 -15 EP's to study for and complete their Architect Registration Examinations, under this NCARB approved program.

Next Big Thing

Black Spectacles is where architects come to learn how to accomplish their next big thing.

We're the only learning platform created entirely for architects. That means we know this industry inside and out, and so do our instructors. Our simple, easy-to-digest and in-depth video tutorials are taught by architects and designers who work on world-class projects.

We're people who love design as much as you do, who have watched the sun come up after our fair share of all-nighters, and who turn every vacation into an architectural pilgrimage. We're just as crazy about architecture as you are. Whether it's getting licensed or learning new software to keep your skills current, everyone at Black Spectacles is committed to helping you get there.

The Story

"As an architect at Gensler, all I wanted to do was design amazing architecture. New tools kept emerging and old ones were changing fast. My firm financed workshops, training, and conferences so I could learn new software. But even that wasn't enough.

I launched Black Spectacles in 2010 to democratize learning. To connect world-class architects with eager-to-learn students. To empower our entire community with knowledge. By making it easier for anyone from any corner of the Internet to expand their architecture and design skills, Black Spectacles is paving the path to innovation in our industry.

In the years since, we've expanded beyond software courses and now help thousands of architects get licensed and pass the ARE®. Every day, we help more and more architects dominate their careers."

— Marc Teer, Architect, Founder & CEO

2019 Sessions Breakdown:

This year, we will hold two sessions ,each covering their own ARE 5.0 division:

Session 1

(Sep. 14 - Nov. 2)
Programming and Analysis (PA)

Session 2

(Nov. 9 - Dec. 28)

How It Works

At the core of our program is the Black Spectacles ARE video series, a valuable set of video tutorials that cover each section of the ARE exam. We pair the video tutorials with recently licensed emerging professional architects and established “sage” architects in our community to provide prospective and real life application. Structure your preparation through attendance at our weekly sessions, attended by local ARE candidates just like you. We provide the space, snacks and motivation to getyou licensed!
